

To whom it May Concern: As the guardians of last resort over our country's airwaves, I call on your consciences to respond with courage and conviction to prevent Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary just days before the election. Are they willing to balance their programming by showing a genuine look at this national hero in his youth? Fine, then they should broadcast "Going Upriver," which features other heroes as well, such as Senator Max Cleland and Senator J. William Fulbright who helped save thousands more of our young men from the carnage of the Vietnam war. We could even use footage of present day heroes in Iraq and Afghanistan, if their plight were really described truthfully so we could decide our future in a free democratic process. Please use your good office to intervene on behalf of all of us who together own the airwaves and entrust them to other humans to benefit our common destiny and the larger destiny of our world. Thank you.

Very sincerely yours,
